

✓ Congratulations! You passed!

Grade received 100% To pass 100% or higher

Go to next item

1. More so than others, this group of stakeholders is split on basic technical issues, including the block-size debate.

1 / 1 point

- ☒ Developers
- ☐ Governments
- ☐ Banks and financial services
- ☐ Venture capitalists

Developers in the community are split on basic technical issues, and the community is expressing a need for coordination and leadership.

2. This stakeholder group is well-suited to conducting research, performing assessments, and educating others about blockchain technology with minimal bias or special interests.

1 / 1 point

- ☒ Academia
- ☐ Banks
- ☐ Governments
- ☐ Venture Capitalists

Academic institutions are funding blockchain studies in labs and centers, and been deliberating blockchain governance issues with stakeholders outside of their silos.

3. This individual is the CEO and co-founder of Lightning Labs, which is developing the Lightning Network—perhaps the single most important innovation to scale the power and potential of bitcoin, and as a result, all blockchain platforms.

1 / 1 point

- ☐ Primavera De Filippi
- ☐ Blythe Masters
- ☐ Elizabeth Rossiello
- ☒ Elizabeth Stark

Elizabeth Stark is arguably one of the industry's most influential players. In addition to her role as CEO and co-founder of Lightning Labs, she also organized Scaling Bitcoin, which was credited with clearing logjams in the block-size debate and was considered a "constitutional moment" for the sector.